They can be easily adapted for much more efficient service to meet war demands if the churches will recognize the opportunity, and say to this, their great efficient organization, We will back the institution and the missionaries of the American Missionary Association with workers and money for a large emergency war program in its special field. Many individuals are sending extra gifts of twenty-five to one hundred dollars as an expression of their confidence and their loyalty. If thousands of others say, by extra gifts, It is not enough merely to keep things going, we can outline a genuine war work program for the next year of the American sionary Association. THE WAY The following poem was written by Miss Susan M. Marsh who died August 13. She was a much loved and very successful teacher for many years. The last 22 years of her teaching were spent at Gregory Institute, Wilmington, N. C. And all things good and bright; And two went on, with laugh and song. And vows with hand-clasp tight; Then love came down and crowned it all With Love s supreme delight. I saw a road lead up a hill; It wound to left and right, Through verdant fields and fragrant flowers, Neath skies of radiance bright; Its beauty grew as on it stretched, A way of brilliant light, Through realms of joy and melody I looked again, far up the hill; The road was lost to sight; Thick trees...
